ALLIES ASSEMBLE GREAT MASSES OF ARTILLERY

British Successes On Northern Part Of Western Battle Line Due To These Guns

By Associated Press.

London, March 13.—The British successes of the past few days were due to their artilllery, which apparently is superior to that of the Germans, according to the story of the "British eye-witnesses" issued tonight. The fire of the artillery is described as the fiercest that has yet been heard in the war and confirms what heretofore has been only rumored—that the British and French have brought up, since the battle of Ypres, an enormous number of guns of all caliber. This success has generally heartened the British troops who have spent the winter in the trenches and gives them hope that when a great general movement is decided upon they will be able to carry all before them.

The Germans, according to reports, are already sending large numbers of troops to Flanders in the belief that a general offensive on the part of the allies has begun. The impression here, however, is that the British thrust was only part of the allied strategy which aims at keeping the Germans busy on both fronts, thus preventing them from concentrating at any one point. Concurrently, the French continue their offensive in Champagne and in the Vosges and are strengthening the ground which they have won in recent battles.

In the east, the German offensive against Przasnysz is not developing as fast as anticipated. The Russians are offering stubborn resistance to their advance along parallel roads and owing to the inability of the Germans to entrench in the frozen ground, have, according to the Petrograd reports, thus far the advantage in the preliminary fighting. In fact, the Germans are said to have withdrawn from the north of Przasnysz.

Heavy fighting is in progress in the Carpathians despite snow storms and deep drifts. Heavy fog has interfered with operations of the allied fleet against the Dardanelles but the ships have kept up the bombardment of the forts at Bulair through which reinforcements, provisions and ammunitions for the fortifications in the straits must pass. They also are preventing the Turks from strengthening the forts at the entrance of the straits and before Smyrna which had previously been destroyed or damaged.

JAPAN SENDS MORE TROOPS TO CHINA

SECOND JAPANESE SQUADRON REPORTED EN ROUTE CONVEYING 30,000 SOLDIERS

TOTAL IS NEARLY 60,000

Intention to Withdraw Troops Already in China Has Been Abandoned

By Associated Press

Peking March 13.—The Chinese government has official information to the effect that the second Japanese squadron conveying two divisions of approximately 30,000 soldiers has sailed for China. The forwarding of these troops will increase the number of Japanese soldiers in the garrison in China to nearly 60,000. The new troops will be distributed in Manchuria, Quantung, Tien Tsin and Hankow. It was made known in Tokio several days ago that new forces of troops would be dispatched to the Japanese garrisons in China. The explanation was given that this was merely a shifting of troops such as is made at regular intervals, and it was understood that the troops now in China would be withdrawn on the arrival of the new forces. Subsequently however, it was intimated that the garrisons now on duty would be retained pending the settlement of difficulties which have arisen consequent to the presentation by Japan of demands upon China.

PACKERS COMBINE TO FORCE LOW MEAT RATES

Patronage Shifted From Road to Road Until Advantages Granted Is Charge

By Associated Press

Chicago March 13.—A complaint that six or seven packing companies had combined to force certain railroads to grant advantages in the shipments of fresh meats from Chicago was made at the hearing here today before the interstate commerce commission. The action for the hearing was taken by shippers from Chicago, Kansas City, Omaha and Fort Worth. The complaint charges that the railroads which on means amounting generally to three million dollars annually have been induced to grant packers lower rates than other shippers. Witnesses testified that the packers had shifted their patronage from road to road until they had secured the advantages. The railroads were charged with having granted the

BRITISH ARTILLERY VERY EFFECTIVE

WITHDRAWAL OF GERMAN HEADQUARTERS FROM LILLE IS REPORTED

REPORT OF EYE WITNESS

After Bombardment Captured Trenches Found Filled With Dead and Dying

By Associated Press.

Paris, March 13.—"The bombardment with which the British preceded their attack on Nueve Chappelle and Aubers was particularly effective," telegraphs the Matin's correspondent at Armentieres. "Their work was so good around Lille that the German headquarters was moved from that city to Tournai, foreshadowing a general kithdrawal of troops. The Germans lost very heavily in the fighting and the British and Canadians fought with great bravery. Their success overwhelmed them with joy. All the soldiers coming back from the front are beaming with pleasure and singing cheerily. A thousand German prisoners were taken; several hundred of these, including some officers captured at Merville, were lodged temporarily in barges on the river Lys. The German officers are unbanding and are trying hard to maintain their confident attitude; the men are a mixture of very old and very young. They seem depressed and are a sad sight. Their well-known uniforms are bespattered with mud. The battle continued Thursday as fiercely as ever. The British do not disguise their confidence in their ability to make a prompt clearance to the northward."

OFFICIAL EYE WITNESS' ACCOUNT OF FIGHTING

By Associated Press.

London, March 13.—The British offensive which resulted in the capture of Nueve Chappellese and the country beyond it began early in the morning of March 10 with a bombardment by a large number of guns and howitzers, according to an "eye witness" with the British expeditionary force in France.

"Our men in the trenches," he says, "describe the fire as being the most tremendous, both in point of noise and in actual effect, they have ever seen or heard. The shrieking of shells in the air, their explosion and the continuous thunder of the batteries were all merged into one great volume of sound. The discharge of the guns was so rapid that they sounded like the fire of a gigantic machine gun. During the 35 minutes it continued the men would show themselves freely and walk about in safety. Then the signal for the attack was given and in less than half an hour almost the whole of the elaborate series of German trenches were in our hands, except at one point there was hardly any resistance from the trenches, which in places were literally blotted out, were filled with dead and dying partly buried in the earth and debris, and the majority of the survivors were in no mood for further fighting. To the northeast of the village a body of Germans encampel in enclosures still continued to hold out for a few hours. These attacks in spite of the extreme gallantry with which they were conducted, failed to dislodge them, but by about noon the arrival of reinforcements drove the Germans from their last stronghold in the village. Meanwhile a similar advance had been made within 400 yards of a small rectangular wood about 1000 yards south of the town. In the afternoon the troops who had seized the town advanced still further to the east, gaining nearly 400 yards, while on their left again north of the village our foward movement progressed for a considerable distance and the fighting continued long after darkness set in. The enemy was by this time thoroughly shaken and in some parts of the field were surrendering in groups. Throughout the day the Germans continued to hold out in a strong position at the angle of the cross roads south of the village.

This position has been known as Port Arthur and a hard struggle raged for some hours around it until at 5:30 in the evening, when it was stormed at the point of the bayonet. By nightfall we were in possession of all the enemy's trenches on a front of 4000 yards, representing an advance of more than 1200 yards from our original trenches at the farthesst point. The number of prisoners captured is officially reported to be 750, but there is reason to believe that others were taken who have not yet been sent in.

"During the day two remarkable feats were performed by our airmen. One, flying at a height of only 150 feet in order to make sure of his mark dropped a bomb on the important railroad bridge at Menin, destroying one of the piers. Another flying over the Courterai junction dropped a bomb on the station and wrecked it. These two points are of vital importance to the German communications. The German batteries on this day made no effective reply to our artillery fire. On Thursday, March 11, the fighting continued almost as fiercely as on the previous day. The enemy attempted counter attacks at various points. A little ground was gained at various points, but on the whole the situation remained very much as it was on the previous day. The enemy's resisstance had stiffened, but all efforts to drive us from the position we had gained failed with losses. The German artillery had now become more active. Neuve Chappel was heavily shelled and the whole line swept with shrapnel."

FIRE IN BOARDING HOUSE IS FATAL TO DALLAS MAN

Half Brother of Judge William F. Ramsey Dies When Flames Cut Off Escape.

By Associated Press.

Dallas, Texas, March 13.—Charles A. Ramsey, 34 years old, lost his life and a half dozen other boarders had to jump, to escape flames which destroyed a boarding house on Live Oak street at four o'clock Saturday morning. L. F. Lovelace, a room-mate of Ramsey, was badly burned. Ramsey is a half brother of Judge W. F. Ramsey, formerly of the court of criminal appeals. His cries could be heard from a porch where he had rushed, apparently, when awakened by the flames breaking into his room. It is believed he became dazed or stupified by the smoke and was badly burned before he could get out of his room. The loss was about $11,000.

OIL TANK EXPLOSION RESULTS IN FOUR DEATHS

By Associated Press.

New York, March 13.—The explosion of a large oil tank adjoining the Long Island railroad freight yards in the east New York section of Brooklyn shortly after noon today killed four boys and seriously injured several other persons. Four men employes of the company which owned the tank were reported missing. The tank was partly underground and was said to have contained 11,000 gallons of oil. The four boys were playing nearb and met instant death. Those injured were passers by. The oil is believed to have been ignited by sparks from a freight engine. The fire that followed burned so fiercely that the firemen were unable to get near it.

"THE DEEP PURPLE"

By Paul Armstrong and Wilson Mizner

A Liebler Feature in 5 Acts

as the heroine of this great drama Clara Kimball Young has to traverse the gamut of many varied emotions an unsophisticated country girl, she suddenly finds herself flung into a seething turmoil of New York's underworld life, she is the guileless tool of an unscrupulous band of villains to whom cheatin, deception robbery even murder mean nothing

The girl's beauty, simplicity loyalty devotion and truthfulness are well simulated by Miss Young who works hard in many trying situations.

It is a play of startling incidents and dramatic contrasts a thriller in the literal meaning of the word It is moreover true to life and free from any nauseating sex themes or suggestions—there is nothing of the white slave traffic in it nothing offensive nothing unclean

Clara Kimball Young fresh from the laurels of MY OFFICIAL WIFE and LOLA, will demonstrate again to her many admirers that she is unsurpassed in dramatic action as every observer will conclude after seeing her in THE DEEP PURPLE

FIRE FROM BRITISH SHIPS INEFFECTIVE

ASSOCIATED PRESS MAN SAYS LITTLE DAMAGE BEING DONE

FIRE IS WITHOUT SYSTEM

Fire From Turkish Guns Appears Better Directed Than Shots From Ships

By Associated Press.

Dardanelles March 7 via Constantinople, Berlin and London, March 13 —The fire today of the British ships upon the Dardanelles forts was scattered and virtually without effect From the point of vantage on shore occupied by the Associated Press correspondent, British shells could be seen falling wide of the mark During the early afternoon of today (March 7) the Turkish fire forced a British battleship in the Gulf of Saros to retreat The bombardment today of the Turkish positions on the straits led to no more results than did the fire of yesterday At about 9 20 in the morning, four British vessels of the pre-dreadnought type had taken up positions at a point off Dardanus on the Asiatic side Their fire observed from shore, was scattered and as usual in the last three days without effect.

During the operation of today, the fire of the British was directed at the forts of Hamidieh and Dardanus and the works about Kalid Bahr. The British fire was without system and in most cases sthe shells fell wide of their marks The bombardment came to an end at 4 30 in the afternoon At about a quarter past ten in the morning British vessels entered the fire zone of the Dardanus and Kalid Bahr forts which replied promptly to their aggressions It was seen that the Britisah vessels were struck and that they steamed quickly beyond range All four of the vessels taking part in this operation then manevured around the bay firing almost at random on the forts and on the Turkish batteries of howitzers hidden in excellent positions in the hills The firing was so brisk that the sound of it at one time was a continuous roar of detonations The horizon was shrouded in drifting powder smoke It was learned today from Turkish medical officers that nobody was injured in the bombardment on March 5 of the Dardanelles possitions

TIMES PUBLISHING CO.,
ED HOWARD, Manager

Go to church today

Are you pulling or pulling back?

Dont step on your lip Cheer up, the worst is yet to come.

Those Woodmen don't realize what a good thing they missed

What are you doing to make Wichita Falls better, either socially or commercially?

He builds best for the future who strives in the present to profit by the mistakes of the past

"From the neck down, a worth about $1 50 per day, the neck up—that's up to

"The man who can smile own defeat has won," but cashing his winnings is where the rub comes

The fellow who is fond of claiming that the world owes him a living, very often overlooks the fact that he owes the world something in return

Ask any traveling man what town in Texas of Wichita Falls' class is most successfully tiding over the prevailing unfavorable conditions

Miss Annie Spring will soon be visiting friends in our city, and Mr Bo Reas is preparing to take his departure for the far North.

Some bright fellow has remarked that "real friends are like the inside pockets of our vests—we may not often need them, but we know they are there."

Industrious and intelligent effort will overcome many of the ills of life The trouble with many is that they would rather endure the ills than to exercise the requisite industry and intelligence

The recruiting station don't seem to be crowded with the jingoes who are shrieking for war with Mexico Jingoes are great with the mouth stuff, but when it comes to smelling gunpowder they are not there.

Many other nuisances, notably dangerous governmental policies, state or municipal, need to be swatted the same as the fly, in their incipiency Give them an inch and in time they will take a yard.

A Harris county thug was indicted for robbery with firearms, the indictment alleging that he took a dime from his victim In court the indictment was quashed because the defendant proved that what he took was two nickels, instead of a dime

The Times is proud, justly so we think of its long years of unswerving devotion to Wichita Falls and her best interests The paper has no higher aspiration than to conservatively and constantly boost its town, at the same time receiving a patronage which justly recompenses the effort expended. Through good and evil, The Times is always on the job.

For the benefit of some of our brethren of the rural press, who take such delight in enlarging upon Wichita Falls' misdeeds, The Times calls their attention to the fact that the murder trials to be held here in April are transferred from another county about 60 miles distant and that Wichita county is in no way involved in the events leading up to the tragedy It was but natural that the cases, if they had to be transferred, should be brought to a good town

At present the new park recently acquired by the city is known only as the "Seven Sisters" tract, taking this sibilant appellation from the row of seven rent houses which formerly occupied and which had been dubbed the "Seven Sisters" because of their uniformity. The name does not strike The Times as being particularly appropriate for a park and some other should be chosen Perhaps the city council might institute a contest, offering a small prize for the most suitable name submitted,

It's no trouble to get results from advertising in the classified columns of The Times. There are probably more vacant residences in Wichita Falls now than for a year or two, but real desirable residence property is still in great demand A "for rent" ad in The Times of a five room modern cottage brought the advertiser thirty applicants. If you have any thing for sale, rent or exchange you can't well expect to find a buyer, tenant or trader unless you make the fact known, and the best and quickest way to do that is through the classified columns of The Times Everybody reads The Times, whether they like it or not, just because they have formed the habit and some few for the pleasure it affords them—either in reading the news while it is fresh, or abusing the editor for not finding in its columns what they expected Both kinds of readers are assets for any newspaper

" UM SNAIKS."

Editor Times: Like an unfortunate blind man upon his first contact with light from long confinement in a dark dungeon, the editor of The Daily Times upon his unaccustomed sight of a sane and just proposition goes into "delirium tremendus" in Friday's paper and sees horrible "boogers" in the labor platform adopted by the Trades Council last Monday night It is fortunate indeed for The Times Publishing Company that the "Golden Rule" or "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself" was not incorporated in said platform, otherwise, the Texas press would have been carrying in large headlines, the next day, an obituary of the "Demise from fright of our noble brother, the editor of The Wichita Daily Times."

J J. MANLEY

Editor's Note—Our ony object in commenting on the platform was to confirm our suspicion as to whose was the hand that wrote it We now feel that our effort was not in vain

AN APPRECIATION OF FRANK KELL.

(Fort Worth Record)

Frank Kell of Wichita Falls is an optimist He is also a grain buyer a miller, a ranch owner, a railroad builder and a town expander He says he expects to see every cow pasture in West Texas turned into a productive farm He went before the Texas railway commission at Dallas and advocated the increase of 15 per cent in freight rates that the railroads are asking for He told the commission that if the roads could earn enough money to pay their fixed charges, they will build extensions and new roads through sections where good farms can be made out of cow pastures. It requires twenty acres to pasture a cow Those twenty acres turned into a good farm will support ten cows, if sown to wheat will feed 100 persons. This is the making of an empire If Texas had a thousand Kells she would soon be a producing empire as well as an empire in extent

EDITORIAL PARAGRAPHS

(By W. H. Cousins)

The buy-a-bale movement was to fix a price but we don't remember that anybody said anything about the Standard Oil Co being pinched in nearly every state in the union for seeking to do the same thing.

BURNING QUESTIONS The atmosphere and the newspapers are full of burning questions, some of which should not be printed except on asbestos For some time the war in Europe has held the boards as a question of high temperature. For a considerable longer period the high cost of living has helped the editorial interogators to fill their columns with question marks Now in the very middle of all this enigmatical, super heated editorial comment comes the astonding news that Mrs. Home Run Baker has persuaded her liege lord to forsake the big league, the ash stick and the applause of a million fans for a Connecticut farm The question is how can a man who has been selling home runs for several thousand dollars per be content to peddle pigs and potatoes? It seems that the "back to the soil" malady is breaking out in high places

Up Battle Creek way a one time physician and now famous manufacturer of an extensive line of epicurean jokes of the cereal variety, supposed to take the place of hot biscuits and farm sausage for breakfast has written a book He recommends the book as being helpful to those who follow the simple life. We announce here and now that if this book has for its mission the supplanting of ham and eggs for a new kind of saw dust for dinner and the outlawing of roast beef and brown gravy in favor of a scientifically prepared powdered wood for supper that we are agin the book

The collector of the port of New York has officially decided that a hen is not a bird He has given out nothing as to what he thinks a "chicken" it.

HALF POUND FROG FOUND IN BABY'S STOMACH

Believed Amphibian Developed From Tadpole Swallowed By the Child

By Associated Press.

Goshen, Ind., March 13.—Surgeons who operated on the 18 months old child of Mrs. Henry Wolf found a half pound frog in baby's stomach When the baby became ill it was treated for stomach trouble and when the usual remedies failed to bring relief an V-Ray photograph was made and this disclosed a black spot in the stomach. The surgeons declared the child must have swallowed a tadpole in its drinking water and that the frog then developed

SWEDISH STEAMER IS SUNK BY A SUBMARINE

Vessel Was Flying National Colors—German Captain Gave No Warning Before Attack

Hull, England, March 13 — Fourteen survivors of the crew of the Swedish steamer Hanna, which was torpedoed by a submarine off Scarborough on the east coast of England early this morning, was landed here ths evening by a steamer that picked them up. Six of the crew were either drowned or killed by the explosion. The second mate who was on the bridge at the time the attack started stated tonight that he did not see the submarine which gave no notice of its intention He saw the torpedo approaching the vessel but it was too late to maneuvre the vessel so as to avoid it The explosion caused the fore part of the deck to fall in, imprisoning several of the crew in the forecastle The vessel continued to float for half an hour after being struck giving the survivors time to take to the boats

The Hanna was bound from the Tyne for Las Palam, Canary Islands When she was torpedoed she was displaying her national colors, and had her name and nationality painted on side in letters reaching from the bulwark to the water line Therefore, the rescued men declared it was impossible for her to have been mistaken for a British vessel

They declared before their departure that they hoped to find a suitable home for their family, present or prospective, in Oklahoma or Kansas In naming the children names have been picked with the letter "A" Thus far they have gone from Abel to Austin

The wonderful record made by Diamond Tires last year proves that they are right structurally.

It proves that the materials we put into Diamond Tires have the weight, strength and wearing qualities that combine to give the most economical mileage in actual service.

Recently we conducted a test by mail to find out what jobbers and tire dealers had to say about 1914 Diamond Tire records. The hundreds of letters received from them show that Diamond Tires have more than made good.

These letters from dealers in all parts of the country, show that Diamond Tires in 1914 established a service record which stands supreme. We have put these letters into a book. They furnish concrete evidence of the big mileage Diamond users get and the freedom from tire troubles they enjoy.

Write to Akron, Ohio, for this remarkable book of letters. It's a wallop!—and we want you to have a copy.

In addition to the extraordinary mileage and freedom from troubles that you get in Diamond Smooth Treads Tires, you can buy them at the following

Duval West Back in San Antonio. Will Probably Visit Carranza Shortly.

By Associated Press.

San Antono, Texas, March 13. — Duval West, special representative of President Wilson and the state department to investigate conditions in Mexico, returned to San Antonio Friday night after a month spent in the territory controlled by General Villa. He will remain here "awaiting instructions."

It is presumed that he will next visit Vera Cruz and the territory controlled by the Carranzcistas. The trip settled one point that has been in doubt: General Villa is alive and in active command of his forces. Mr. West spent two and a half days with the leader, making journeys with him on his private train.

Notice All Royal Arch Masons.

There will be a school of instruction in the Chapter each night next week, commencing at 7 p. m. All Royal Arch Masons invited to attend.

EXCUSES
Never pay dividends neither do they mark the graves or beautify your cemetery plots Some are drooping on the good folks of this town who take pride in trying to beautify our sacred burial grounds towards which all are drifting
Is that excuse you made last year still on your lips? Have you forgotten that promise you made to a loved one? Has time brushed away the tears and with it the dear sweet remembrance of those who loved you? Humanity is careless and prone to err but there is no excuse for you to not remember them with a suitable memorial It is the least and last thing one can do
Let us help you and this give lasting satisfaction

rison-Tyler administrations was taken up, also the Texas-Mexican trouble. Mrs. Wiley Blair was leader for the afternoon and a number of excellent papers were read. Following the program a truly delightful musical program was carried out, Mrs. Watts having arranged this feature in addition to the program. Mrs. Roy Artley gave a vocal selection. Miss Burnside gave an instrumental number and Mrs. Ben Bell and Mrs. Ray, the honor guest, each favored with readings. For the refreshment hospitality the guests were invited into the dining room, which was exceedingly attractive with an elaborate patriotic scheme of decoration. Flags were draped between the double doors of dining room and living room and hung on the wall. A large portrait of George Washington was draped with the colors and in the candle lit table and buffet the national tri-color motif was featured. Four crystal candle sticks, flag shaded were arranged on the polished table, overlaid with lace and flowers, massed so as to form three bars of red, white and blue, formed a centerpiece. Here a tempting two course luncheon was served to the following D. A. R. members: Mesdames Burnside, Ben Bell, Wiley Blair, Robertson, Beavers, Jackson, Miller, Artley, Herbiln, Misses Burnside, Beavers and Young, special guests were Mrs. Ray, honoree, Mesdames Bralley, Snider, Keith and Bolding.

PROGRESSIVE MISSION LECTURE AT SNIDER HOME

An altogether clever and unique arrangement of a missionary program was the progressive missionary lecture-tea given Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. W. Snider, with Mrs. Snider and Mrs. M. H. Moore hostesses. The ladies of the mission society of the M. E. Church, South, were the guests on this occasion and each of the seventy-five ladies present declared that never had she spent so profitable and delightful time at a missionary meeting. The mission hour is apt to prove irksome and the majority of the members as a rule find little interest in the study. For these the hostesses had provided a program somewhat out of the ordinary, there being five tables with a lecture on some phase of the subject of missions going on at each one. Cards bearing the table number were given out by Mrs. Sehman and following an eight minute lecture each group progressed to the table next in order. Mrs. Silk at the first table discussed the Wesley Houses, Mrs. Guest at table No. 2 lectured comprehensively on mountain schools; Mrs. Snider at table 3, had Korea for her subject and Mrs. Kelly and Mrs. Shelton at tables 4 and 5, discussed Africa and Mexico respectively. During the intermission of changing tables music by Mesdames Nace Clifford, Tully, G. H. Carpenter and Sehman was enjoyed. The dining room was visited last and tea and cakes were served. Mrs. C. R. Hartsook presided at the tea service, laid out on the large table, decorated with a simple but effective centerpiece of violets. Miss Jones and Miss Annette Coffield assisted in the dining room. This innovation along the lines of missionary meetings was much enjoyed and the announcement of another of the same sort to be held soon will be heartily welcomed.

The ladies of the League were assured of the heartiest co-operation of Prof. Trimble and his pupils and teachers in their clean up effort and all were much pleased with their reception. A tour of the school was made and the work in the special departments of domestic science and manual training, supervised by Prof. Trimble and his wife, was demonstrated. These departments and the entire work of the school and the excellent results of the efforts of the principal and his wife received many compliments from the committee of ladies, who were highly pleased with the results of their visit.

The subject for the afternoon's program "Mary Magdalene" was a continuation of the study of women of the Bible and was very ably led by Mrs. T. M. Smyre. A paper of unusual excellence on "The Life of Mary Magdalene" was read by Mrs. Silk and numerous points of interest were brought out by the leader in the course of the lesson. The hostess favored the club with a pleasing vocal selection, an Indian lullaby. The cordial hospitality of Mrs. Carpenter toward her guests was evidenced in the reception given them, the many little things planned for their comfort and the unusually dainty refreshment service, in which she was assisted by Mrs. J. D. Johnson. Both the salad plate and the ice course featured the approach of St. Patrick's Day, the brick cream being molded in green, white with white cake and plate favors consisted of green flags, bearing the inscription in gold "Erin Go Bragh" (Ireland Forever). The guest of the afternoon was Mrs. J. D. Johnson, the following club members enjoying the meeting with Mrs. Carpenter: Mesdames Whitney, Gardner, Bralley, Lee, Guest, Barnard, Adickes, Silk, Burnside, Grisham, Ashmore, Wood, Tully, Montgomery, Smyre and Adams.

Mrs. Robertson made an unusually interesting talk on the lost city of Petros, the city discovered some years ago in the African desert, very difficult of access and which only a few explorers have visited. The city is reported to be very beautiful, resembling an immense, clearly cut cameo. This relation was of course very much enjoyed by all. BERNSTORFF THINKS SINKING JUSTIFIED

SAYS GERMAN COMMANDER ACTED UNDER DECLARATION OF LONDON.

STORY OF AMERICAN CAPTAIN

Kept on Board Warship More Than 30 Days After Sinking of His Boat.

By Associated Press.

Washington, March 13—Count Bernstorff, German ambassador, in discussing with state department officials today the sinking of the American sailing ship, William P Fry defended the action of Captain Thierichens of the German auxiliary cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich He contended that he acted within the declaration of London, which was the only guide as to disposition of prizes, the next step in the case cannot be taken until the question of the detention of the Fry's cargo is determined and the state department will await action on that point by her owners who present certain proofs on which the government will predicate its action

Captain Kiehne of the William P Fry said he submitted willingly to search and assured the Germans he had no cargo but wheat The German officer examined the ship's papers carefully, he said, and then the cargo was ordered thrown oberboard While this was being done the Eitel went away after another prize returned after several hours and took off the Fry's crew,

The Eitel captain then sank the Fry, fearing the long delay at which he considered the path of hostile cruisers might subject his own ship to danger Captain Kiehne said that he did not know while en route to Queenstown that his cargo of wheat had been sold, nor did the German commander The cargo was shipped to order," and the vessel was to stop at three British ports, one of which was fortified.

While no vessels were seen nor any chase for enemy ships while the Americans were aboard the Eitel the captain said the German commander made no effort for more than a month to land his neutral passengers in a safe port Undoubtedly that may be one of the chief points of future representations by the United States because it is held that the Americans were subjected to unnecessary risks

London Declaration's Validity

In defending the action of commander Thierichens the ambassador contended that when the officer left Tsing Tau at the outbreak of the war last August he had nothing to follow but the declaration of London in deciding what to do with vessels he might seize For that reason the ambassador urged, he had a right to sink the Fry as its cargo of wheat was consigned to order and destined to a fortified port of the enemy

It was held by administration officials that the German captain had no right to act under the declaration in any event, for when the war broke out it had not been ratified generally and therefore was not in force

H Carpenter April 30 was set as the date of Exhibition Day, when examplets of the work done Day when examples of the work done of the city schools will be on exhibition at the high school building This exhibition has become an annual occurrence and the publicc is invited to attend

Thesse remarks were prefaced by a short talk on home gardening as a means of keeping the children interested and off the streets after school hours and during vaccation time Mr Carpenter urged the teachers to encourage home gardeming and told of a plan whereby seeds could be bought for a nominal sum, a penny a package

Voile Is Favored Material In Styles For Spring—Many Novelties

New York, March 12.—The last month has proven that Paris is not hating us. The couturiers have supplied fashions for the waiting Americans despite depressed conditions and their openings have been almost as gay as ever. I say almost, for one cannot get over the atmosphere of grief which enters the place when one sees the suppressed sorrow on the face of a saleswoman or model. The mannequins themselves are not less gay but it is often a forced gaiety.

The gowns show less change than heretofore but what they lack in variety they make up in artistry. The couturiers have had no heart for the bizarre and therefore have improved upon what they have had.

The Franco-Russian war closed a period noted for its extravagance in dress and following was a time of severity and plainness which was felt over the entire civilized world. Today has seen another period of extravagance closed by a world wide war and we are now entering upon another period which bids fair to be one of naturalness and simplicity and a turning from the Orientalism which brought in the lamp shade tunics and the Turkish styles of a few seasons back.

The Paris openings show that voile wool silk or cotton is used a great deal in the development of the new gowns. There are separate waists also made of it usually in sand or putty colors. They suit the khaki and field cloth suits which are the rage of early spring.

Simplicity is the mode in these waists which button primly down the front and are sometimes tucked singly or in clusters. High collars off and boned only at the sides are very popular. These collars should not hit the neck tightly but wrinkle loosely over the bones. If at all tight they have lost their style.

The waists of thin fabrics are by far smarter than those made of heavier fabrics. Chiffon and a voile which is warranted indestructible and looks more like chiffon than voile go with the fitters durability is used a great deal for these waists even of the simplest and the plainest styles.

Beneath these waists are worn corset covers of plain white flesh colored or pink taffeta scalloped at the top and buttoned down the front. Beige and sand colored taffeta is also used to be worn under white chiffon or voile waists.

In my illustration is shown a dress of tan voile. The bolero of the waist is made of an irregularly checked voile in dull shades of red yellow and brown. The skirt is untrimmed.

Voile and other fabrics are being used with bordes in contrasting colors. This helps in the trimming which as it usually needs nothing so to make the dress complete.

A serviceable dress on trim new lines is shown in my second illustration. The side closing of the waist corresponding with the side closing of the skirt is both neat and at the same time. A high collar with a turn over white shows the latest whim of fashion. Notice the simple belt of the same cloth even to the cloth covered buckle.

One of the odd and quaint novelties of evening dress is made with a waist of white tulle edged with the twisted embroidery. It is said to say the least and very effective. This worsted embroidery is used on chiffon net silk and voile. Silk frocks have embroidered flowers at the waist on the end of sashes as a border to a hem. A blue frock which I have recently seen had a fringe around the bottom of yellow and blue crewel fringe.

In Europe mourning reigns. It is seldom that one goes upon the street in Paris or London or Berlin without passing more people in black or black and white than in any other color. This of course, causes black and white to be favored here. The new silks show stripes of black and of white with a white flower thrown in relief against the stripes. Black suits are made with vests of wide striped silk.

Checks and stripes play a large part in the trimming of many of the spring gowns. A stunning suit which I saw not long ago of blue voile was made entirely over a blue and white check silk, the checks being almost an inch square. A frock of black chiffon was made over a flounced underskirt which had each ruffle finished with a band of striped black and white silk an inch and a half deep the stripes running up and down.

Children's frocks change much less in comparison with the styles of their elders but this spring finds the short waisted frocks much more popular than the long waisted ones although the latter have not become passe by any manner of means. The short waisted frocks are very becoming to the small child and to the pettie girl but for the tall or very plump child the long waisted models are much more becoming.

The fifth birthday of Walter Cousins, Jr, was very fittingly observed Wednesday afternoon with a little tots' party given by his mother Mrs W H Cousins Numerous indoor games were played by the small men and women, each choosing their favorite game and playing it in turn. When time came for refreshments the candles on the big white birthday cake were lighted for the admiration of the children, the cake when cut being served with doughnuts and hot grape juice. Before leaving the guests were invited to try their luck at an improvised fishing pond where each angler had the best of "fisherman's luck" drawing out sacks of fruit and candy, with cunning white Easter rabbits as souvenirs Those enjoying the celebration of Master Cousins' birthday included Kathrine Marcus, Elizabeth Kelly, Margery Hines, Mary Elizabeth Lee, Frank Bundy and Marvin George, Howard Knotts

AT THE THEATERS

Lydia Margaret.

The most interesting bit of the program at the Lydia Margaret theatre will undoubtedly prove that of Paul Bowens, who will be seen here the first half of this week. He comes to this theatre with a load of new stories and a score of most amusing songs, interpreted with a bit of dancing here and there. Bowens, who has proven a hit wherever he has been seen, will unquestionably repeat same here. If you could not see the man on the stage, you would undoubtedly think that a perfect, real engine was on the stage. At any rate, the imitation is perfect and his offering will be applauded generally.

The Longworths in a singing act of decided originality show supreme confidence in their ability to make good by starting with a song which is strong enough to close an act. They will be seen at the Lydia Margaret Theatre the first half of this week. "Underneath the Banyan Tree" is a novelty song, the words and music of which were written by Jack Longworth and shows a decided ability on the part of the team for musical comedy work. It is well written and the Longworth's success in "putting it across" where seen. A strong comedy finish is secured of a moving picture reel posed under their directions. While the music of this song is recognized as "a this season's" success, the words are Mr. Longworth's and form a burlesque on a popular serial film, showing in this city. As a whole the Longworths have succeeded in framing up fifteen minutes of clean enjoyable singing that leaves the audience wanting more.

"Ridgeway of Montana" is the picture for Monday. The film is taken from the book of the same, written by William MacLeod Raine. It is in three parts, produced by Henry McRae, with William Clifford, Marie Walcamp and Sherman Bainbridge in the lead roles.

BETTY HANSEN AT THE MATJESIC THEATER TUESDAY

The management of the Majestic Theater announces the five film stars, Betty Nansen, Edward Jose, Wilmuth Mirkyl, Walter Hitchcock and Stuart Holmes will be seen in the much discussed photoplay, "The Celebrated Scandal." Miss Nansen has the most wonderful eye in the world and in one scene in the picture real tears are seen to drop from her eyes. Gossip plays a prominent part and the wagging tongues cause much suffering and finally death. At the finale, Betty Nansen says. "Never has there been thought of love between us, but the world is always ready to think the worst of a woman. And you, too, believe this scandal which has dragged my name in the dust and caused my husband's death—go in there and look upon your work."

CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG AT EMPRESS, WEDNESDAY

The Wednesday feature at the Empress this week will be Clara Kimball Young in "The Deep Purple."

The World Film Corporation presents the five part photoplay "The Deep Purple" based on the drama of the same name by Paul Armstrong and Wilson Mizner. The New York underworld; the perfidies of the Tenderloin; unmitigated crookedness in the shape of blackmail; wire tapping, fraud, gambling, gun play, murder, these are the environments in which the unsophisticated innocents from the country suddenly finds itself, and from which in the end it emerges unscathed.

It is a play of startling incidents and dramatic contrasts; a thriller in the literal meaning of the word. It is moreover true to life and free of any nauseating sex theme or white slave traffic in it: nothing of-white slave tra c in it: nothing offensive; nothing unclean. It is a probable story of metropolitan life: logically unfolded and the people of the drama are the actualities of commonplace existence, as the police court records and the newspapers, day by day, amply attest.

"The Deep Purple" is built round the "badger" game. And the badger game in the argot of the underworld is a form of crookedness more or less rife in all large cities, particularly New York. But crookedness is omnipresent. Motion picture audiences are really not keen on "locations." To them, the play is the thing, and it must hold, no matter what it is about, where it is supposed to take place or who the characters are and by whom they are played. "The Deep Purple" is one of these plays—it holds by its intrinsic power and dramatic force.

"CAST UP BY THE SEA" AT GEM THEATRE MONDAY

Meeting Ruth Adams, daughter of a millionaire, on an ocean liner, Lockwood, a professional gambler, falls in love with her He finds a rival in Count Dupont, a fortunte hunter. The latter informs Ruth and her father as to Lockwood's profession. When the gambler later calls upon Ruth at her home, he is requested to leave.

Ruth and Dupont are wed. A few days after the wedding the girl's father is ruined. Lockwood chances to see Dupont when the news is broken to the nobleman. The man's attitude causes the gambler to fear for Ruth's safety. When the Duponts sail for abroad, Lockwood follows.

A collision sends the liner to the bottom. Ruth, her husband and the gambler are the sole survivors. The three are washed ashore on an island. In the months which follow. Ruth comes to find Lockwood gentle and courageous. Dupont, on the other hand, is a mounment of selfishness. Lockwood constructs a raft just big enough to carry two. Weary of her husband's brutality, she consents to leave the island with the gambler. Dupont, attempting to board the raft, is knocked unconscious.

As Lockwood paddles out to sea, a bundle falls from Ruth's hands and opens. A tiny garment made by Ruth during her stay on the island. Informs the gambler that it is Dupont who should have the chance of being rescued with Ruth. The man paddles back to shore.

The realization of his own unworthiness is forced upon Dupont for the first time, when he learns Lockwood's reason for returning. He vows to turn over a new leaf.

"VALLEY OF THE MOON AT EMPRESS HEATER MONDAY

Jack Conway and Myrtle Stedman of all the motion picture stars have been chosen to play the parts of Roberts and his wife, Saxon, in Jack London's vivid picture of middle class life, "The Valley of the Moon." Our race has been on the tramp since the beginning of creation, just like we are, looking for a piece of land to settle down on. And with this Billy Roberts and Saxon, his wife, leave the life of the city and start out for the farm of their dreams, which must be so ideal they ought to look for it they are told, in "The Valley of the Moon." But it is only after stirring experiences that they determine to take this step. At the opening of the play Billy is successively a teamster and a pugilist and Saxon works in a laundry. They meet at a picnic and find that they are both of the race of sturdy pioneers, which crossed the plains on foot and founded the new empire of the west "We are just like old friends with the same kind of folks behind us," says Billy We see their simple wedding and the happiness of a new life. Then comes the teamsters' strike with the consequent poverty and unhappiness and the embittering of Billy's spirit.

Things go from bad to worse but it is when their fortunes are at the lowest ebb, when Billy is in jail and Saxon destitute, and while she sails on San Francisco Bay, that the great inspiration comes to her. The city is just a place to start from, beyond the circle of hills beyond the Golden Gate, somewhere they will find what they desire most.

After his release and fired by her enthusiasm, Billy agrees and with the thought that they are only following in the footsteps of their ancestors, they start out on foot to find a new home

Charming glimpses of the country through which they are traveling are given, in the course of which we make the acquaintance of the delightful group of artists who call themselves the "Abalone Eaters," at Carmel, and attend a boxing match at which Billy earns a much-desired camping outfit in 27 seconds

Finally they come to a cairn and view from it a valley that is all they have looked for It is Sonoma, an Indian name whih means the Valley of the Moon; so that even their joking wish to find such a valley is fulfilled. Our last view of them is in the midst of busy ranch life, and in a dell in Wildwater Canyon, where Saxon whispers to Billy the secret that crowns the summit of their happiness.

The play is preceded by a [illegible] foot moving picture of Mr. London overlooking his ranch at Sonoma from the same cairn on which Billy and Saxon stand when they get their first glimpse of the Valley of the Moon

MASTER KEY NO. 10 AT MAJESTIC WEDNESDAY

The tenth episode of the Universal special feature "The Master Key," is replete with thrills. State cavalry quell a riot and pistol battle at "The Master Key" mine. Wilkerson steals the secret of the rich lode in the mine inherited by Ruth Gallon and escapes from the soldiers who pursue him by dropping from the end of a rope down the cliff side and both Dorn and Wilkerson start out on rival expeditions to discover the secret treasure chest which lies in the depths of the Pacific ocean

At the end of episode nine of "The Master Key," it will be remembered that John Dore throws Willkerson from a high trestle to the foot of an ore dump near the mine. Wilkerson, although fearfully bruised revives and drags himself to a spot where he is found by his Mexican hirelings.

The Governor of the state, upon the request of the local sheriff, sends a troop of state cavalry to quell the disturbance at the mine. The captain of the company sends for the two leaders and demands an explanation. Both claim ownership of the mine Dore on behalf of Ruth and Wilkerson for himself

The officers place the camp under martial law and gives the leaders the liberty of the village. Dore accuses Wilkerson of abduction and forgery, but the captain and the sheriff are officially powerless to make an arrest. Dore thereupon sends Tom Kane to the nearest county seat to swear out a warrant for Wilkerson's arrest.

Dore lives meanwhile at his own house and Ruth in her old home where she is chaperoned by one of the miner's wives. Wilkerson bunks in one of the miner's cabins. Dore thinks the situation serious enough to warrant his opening a letter left in his care by Tom Gallon which was to be opened on Ruth's 18th birthday or prior to that date should her welfare be threatened. Dore opens the letter which reads as follows

"Silent Valley, Cal., June 29, 1914

"Little Girl

"Read carefully what I now write. On this depends your future welfare.

"The Master Key mine discovered by me five years ago contains a mother lode of inestimable worth. The exate location of that lode is written on a paper which I placed in the head of an Indian idol, hidden in an old sea chest which sank on the ship on which I was wrecked.

"On the Master Key the key to that chest which you wear on you neck, is carved the latitude and longitude where the vessel went down. Find that slip of paper and wealth is yours

"Your devoted daddy, John Gallon."

In opening the letter with a paper knife Dore accidentally cuts the letter into two parts. He pieces it together in reading it but in putting the letter into his pocket a part drops on the floor. One of Wilkerson's pals who has been instructed to shadow Dore sees this through the window and when Dore goes out enters the house and picks up the paper The torn part reads:

"On the Master Key, the key to that chest which you wear on your neck is carved the latitude and longitude where the vessel went down. Find that slip of paper and wealth is yours.

"Your devoted daddy,

"John Gallon"

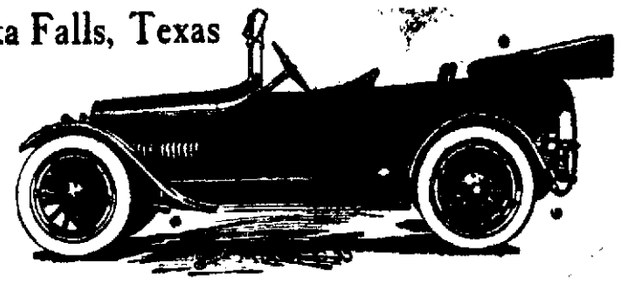
The Mexican hurries with part of the letter to Wilkerson and the latter who always realized that the mine was not located correctly, is elated at the discovery. His next move is to get the key from Ruth. Dore starts to read the letter to Ruth and discovers that half of it is gone Although he makes a careful search he fails to find it

Dore tells Ruth what the letter contained and copies from the key she wears the numerals so rudely carved by her father five years before and which always have been a puzzle to her.

The Valve-In-Head Motor Cars!

$1750 f.o.b. Wichita Falls, Texas

Complete with Speedometer



Buick Six-Cylinder Model C-55

Buick valve-in-head motor cars represent the acme of automobile design and construction up to the present time. Built around the famous Buick valve-in-head motor, these automobiles possess every qualification that the most critical motorist could ask or desire. Buick cars have strength, durability and dependability and finally, they are handsome in appearance. In mechanical excellence and in beauty and grace of line and finish they represent the very latest and best in the art of motor car building. These cars have attained world wide prominence, first, because they are correct in principle, and second, because they express those principles perfectly.

Reasons Why—for the Buick Valve-in-Head Motor.

In twelve seasons of successful use the Buick valve-in-head has demonstrated its superiority beyond all shadow of doubt. This motor, first of all, is correct in principle. It is standard in practically all European cars, and it is rapidly being adopted by American manufacturers. No stronger proof could be offered that it is right.

The Buick company is the pioneer user of this type of motor. Since the first Buick car was built Buick engineers have been developing this motor, not in principle but in refinement of detail. Today the Buick valve-in-head motor is not only the best type of motor; it also is the best motor of its type.

Searching and exhaustive tests by gas engine authorities the world over have proven that the valve-in-head motor is best for speed, power, dependability and fuel economy.

It is best for speed because it develops more power, for fuel consumed, than any other type of motor. All other conditions being equal, it will deliver more power to the rear wheels than any other motor.

It is best for power because it is so designed that it derives the maximum of energy from the fuel that goes into it. None of the energy contained in the fuel is wasted. Every ounce is converted into power.

It is best for dependability for the same reasons that it is speedier and more powerful, and for the additional reason that its three point suspension enables it to resist shocks and strains with less ill effect than any other type of motor.

It is the most economical because it makes use of every bit of the fuel supplied. The fuel, converted into gas, is exploded without being diluted with part of the dead gases from the previous explosion its design gives a clean cylinder for each explosion, which means the maximum in power from the minimum of fuel.

In all the qualities that go to make a motor best the valve-in-head represents the best, in theory and practice, that the world's best automobile engineers have thus far been able to produce.

The 1915 Buick valve-in-head motor, built on the same basic principles as those which preceded it, carries the application of these principles to the farthest point forward yet attained. Buick valve-in-head motors always have been best, and they are better this year than ever before.

WEAK KIDNEYS MAKE WEAK BODIES

Kidney Diseases Cause Many Aches and Ills of Wichita Falls People

As one weak link weakens a chain, so may weak kidneys weaken the whole body and hasten the final break-down.

Over-work, strains, colds and other causes injure the kidneys and generally when their activity is lessened, the whole body suffers.

Aches and pains and languor and urinary ills frequently come and there is an ever-increasing tendency towards dropsy, gravel or fatal Bright's Disease. When the kidneys fail there is no real help for the sufferer except kidney help.

Doan's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys.

No need to make the statement of someone living far away as evidence Here is a case right in this locality.

C Flanigan, blacksmith, Henrietta, Texas, says: "For some time I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and they have always benefitted me. I consider them the best kidney medicine to be had."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills, the same Mr Flanigan had. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

EXPLAINS RECENT CHANGES IN PRICE OF AUTO TIRES

Decided changes have been noted recently in the automobile tire market conditions and R F Harper of the Goodrich company, who was here last week, had the following to say on the subject

"The causes may be traced to three facts—first, the general price cutting that has been noted second, the supply of plantation rubber from the Indo-Malay Peninsula is assured; third, the overhead cost of production has been lowered by new manufacturing processes With reference to price cutting, it was found that dealers were cutting their throats to get business, resulting in very low profits This caused dissatisfaction, and as a remedy the B F Goodrich company came out pair and square with the new price list The supply of rubber from the Malay Peninsula rubber plantations was assured when B C Work, president of the Goodrich company, went in England and succeeded in lifting the embargo on rubber. The advantages of large scale production have long been recognized in the manufacturing world These advantages can easily be summed up in three statements First, lower cost of material when buying in large quantities, second, division of labor, third, the large amounts a concern like the Goodrich company can spend in experimenting and developing."

CONCRETE LIKELY CHOICE FOR PAVING

SCOTT AVENUE AND TENTH STREET EXTENSIONS ARE PLANNED.

DEPENDS ON PROPERTY OWNERS

Bonds Are Approved and Work Will Be Done Whenever It Is Most Wanted.

Concrete will likely be the material selected for the paving of Scott avenue and also for the extension of the paving on Tenth street and for the paving of such cross streets as will be paved out of the proceeds of the $45,000 bond issue.

Members of the council expressed a preference for this material at the meeting Friday night and its use is also favored by a large majority of the property owners who may be affected. It is argued in favor of concrete that it costs only about half as much as other materials and will therefore permit twice as much paving to be done from the proceeds of the bond issue. The city pays only for the paving of the street intersections so that a great deal of paving can be done with the $45,000.

Scott Avenue First

It is planned to start the paving of Scott avenue north from Tenth street at once. It is expected that before the first block is completed all the property owners will be signed up as far as Seventh street, so that the work can go straight on

A committee of Tenth street property owners living beyond the paving on that street who were before the council Friday night were told to get the property owners on that street signed up. Residents of Lamar and Burnett streets have also been told that when the property owners on those streets are signed up for paving the council will be ready to take up the question of the paving of those streets.

The paving of Seventh street from the end of the pavement between Indiana and Scott avenues to the court house will also be taken under consideration when the property owners are signed up

Bonds Are Approved.

The cement paving on Tenth street put down by I H Roberts has proven so satisfactory both to the city council and to the property owners and the public generally that members of the council are not disposed to ask for bids on other materials, and it is probable that if a satisfactory figure is quoted by Mr Roberts bids will not be asked for

Mayor Britain received a letter yesterday from the attorney general announcing that the $45,000 bond issue had been approved These bonds will be advertised and sold as soon as possible The market for municipal bonds is believed to be much better than a few months ago and no trouble in selling the bonds is anticipated.

The city council will meet at ten o'clock Monday morning to open bids for curbing and gutters around the "Seven Sisters" park site

PICTURE SHOWS WILL HELP BEAUTIFY CITY

Benefits Will Be Given and Funds Used to Purchase Flower Seed.

In cooperation with the Civic League's efforts to beautify the city, the motion picture houses of the city have agreed to give benefits one day, the proceeds to be used to purchase flower seeds for distribution among those unable to secure them but who wish to aid in the "beatifying" campaign. A part of the proceeds will also be devoted to other work along this line. The first benefit will be given next Friday at the Gem theater. The case bespeaks a large patronage.

Curtains Up on the Spring Style Review

NOW comes the glad Spring fashion revival when the first fresh styles burst into being. We've the sightliest showing of any season yet!

Here are suits and overcoats of matchless modeling, cut on youthful, Springish lines, buoyant of bearing, proudly patterned, splendid specimens of Michaels-Sterns tailoring.

The values speak as strongly as the styles —they'll HOLD every customer the styles win over. That's the way we build for the future.

You will want to pick out your new clothes before the crowds have picked the lot over. This holds good of our haberdashery, too.
